HOW WHIP HORSE ESCAPED DEATH

SIMPLE STORY FULL OF HUMAN INTEREST

HARRY STIMLER NARRATES ACCIDENT AND RESCUE IN SHAFT AT BELMONT

A human interest story of intense interest comes from the camp of Belmont, in which a man and a whip horse were imperiled. The story is best told in the simple language of H. C. Stimler, who was a participant:

"I had quite an accident yesterday. There is an old shaft down about 30 feet just west of the shaft where I am now sinking. I use a one-horse whip in hauling ore. While going out with a load I got within 10 feet of the collar of this old shaft. The skip ran off the track and pulled the horse over into the old shaft. I was leading the horse by an old cotton rope, which got twisted around my hand and pulled me into the shaft with him. The heavy harness on the horse held him about half way down the shaft while I fell on down. I did not get hurt at all only my hand when the rope got twisted around it. The shaft was very rough, so I climbed out quickly and ran over to call the men who were working under the skip to hurry and get out as the skip was liable to fall back any minute. By the time I got out of the shaft and got the men out of the other shaft it was fully ten minutes and the horse was still hanging by his neck nearly choked to death. He hung for about another minute when the harness finally pulled over his head and let him drop to the bottom. I thought he was surely dead and I went down town and got all the idle men to help me dig him out. We made a square box about 25 feet long and shoveled dirt under him until we raised him within ten feet of the collar of the shaft. By that time we had run an open cut into the side of the shaft and led him out. He seemed to understand as he kept pulling his feet out of the dirt we were piling under him. By that means he kept constantly on top of the dirt. We finally got him out in about four hours.

"The horse seems to be all right only that he hasn't much hide left on him. He is my pet horse and I value him dearly—money never could buy him. I have been offered $200 for him many times. Everybody worked hard to get poor George out of the hole as everybody in Belmont admires the animal. I am installing a whim so won't try the skip any more, as George and the men object to it. It was a narrow escape for the horse, myself and the men working under the whip. If the harness had come off right away the skip would have gone back down as it was up about 40 feet from the bottom of the shaft, but the men got out from under it before the horse got loose from the other end of the cable. It is funny how such an accident as that could happen and nobody get hurt, not even the horse falling 30 feet. Hanging by the harness stopped his fall of course or he would have been killed. The fall didn't hurt me only the sudden stop kind of jarred me a little. I am too tough to be hurt by a little fall of 30 feet."

FORMER TONOPAH GIRL PASSES AWAY

DORIS N. KRAMER DIES AFTER OPERATION PERFORMED FOR APPENDICITIS

Doris N. Kramer, a former resident of Tonopah, died at Virginia City Monday morning, as the result of shock following an operation for appendicitis. Her illness prior to the operation was of only a few days' duration. The child was aged nine years and was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Kramer. She was born in Carson City. The Kramers lived several years in Tonopah, where Mr. Kramer was employed in the Montana mine. Mrs. Charles Smith, a sister of Mrs. Kramer, left Monday morning to attend the funeral. The little girl spent her first year of school in this city. She was very popular with her schoolmates in Virginia City, who attended the funeral in a body, the flag over the schoolhouse being at half mast.

GOLDFIELDERS FIND TRAIL OF SERPENT

CATE AND SLAY OR CAPTURE CATE AND SLAY OR CAPTURE BIG SNAKE

Some people may not have taken seriously the interview published in the Bonanza as to the huge snake trail recently discovered on Alkali flat, but it has since been seen by others and fresh marks show that the big python, or whatever it may be, is still lurking in the locality. The Goldfield Tribune has the following to say:

Quite a number of Goldfield people are inclined to take seriously the story that a huge snake was seen several days ago on Alkali lake, especially since investigators have found what might be the trail of the monster. Such men as Clarence Sage and C. G. Patrick found and followed this trail and also other indications that his snakeship had been abroad. Other searching parties are out today.

Many theories have been advanced to account for the monster seen by an employee of the water company, but nothing entirely satisfactory has been evolved. One was suggested that it might be a delegate from the New York zoo to the San Francisco fair making a cross-country trip, but this theory was quickly scouted.

LARGEST TONNAGE IN HISTORY OF AURORA

According to the Hawthorne Bulletin, the Aurora Consolidated company's mill is treating more ore than at any previous time in its history, 530 tons being about the average daily run. This, together with an increase in the value of the ore and the cheaper handling of the same, has placed this company among the dividend payers, and a substantial amount will be forthcoming at the end of the present quarter as bullion tax, which will be the first paid. At present 142 men are employed in the mine and mill, but the mine is now opened up to such an extent that it is probable that ten men will be taken off before long.

LOVELOCK NOW IS SHIPPING ANTIMONY

Twenty-six tons of antimony ore that will run 50 per cent and return from $100 to $110 a ton was shipped out of Lovelock this week. It came from Antelope Springs and it is announced that another car will be shipped out this month, says the Star. This is but part of over $10,000 worth of the same kind of ore that has gone out from this county during the past two months.

AMUSEMENTS

BUTLER THEATER

Tonight at the Butler a Tonopah-Paramount production, "It's No Laughing Matter," starring Maclyn Arbuckle, one of America's foremost actors. Mr. Arbuckle is a sure tonic for the blues. In "It's No Laughing Matter" there is no matter if you laugh—you cannot help it, even through the tears that often fill your eyes, for this comedy drama has many tense and emotional moments when our hearts go out to Hi Judd, the postmaster of the little village, played so realistically by Mr. Arbuckle. Hi is true to type; he is the big man of the little town, the village wit, the oracle, the pulse of all activity of his little world, the fat and rather lazy dreamer who would rather write verses than chop wood or do the chores. Mr. Arbuckle has a message of happiness he hopes to impart to the whole world in a miracle of sunshine and laughter. That is why he is one of the greatest comedians of today. He laughs with the world, not at it, and wants the world to laugh with him. The picture was directed by Lois Weber and glows with the charm of the well known actor. Mr. Arbuckle is supported by an all-star cast including many picture favorites. The preliminary reel will be "Pathe Weekly," which will be run ahead of the feature. Tomorrow one of the best of the World Film releases, "Alas Jimmy Valentine," featuring Robert Warwick in Paul Armstrong's stage play of the same name. Reserved seats on sale at the theater at all times.—Adv.
